

- BeReal for sounds
  - In today's world, many people have very short attention spans, so keeping people committed to recording new sounds every day will be difficult
- There could also be a variation where people record their friends saying silly things and publish them to the internet.
  - I know a lot of people who journal a quote or something funny that their teacher or friends have said.
- I like the accessibility: you can just pull out your phone and start recording
  - Also, the fact that you just need a phone to record notes, not any fancy equipment
- Promotes a sense of community with friends to collaborate
- I also like the idea that you can finish a song by finding sounds around you.

Questions

- Is it possible for music-lovers who aren't friends to connect with each other?
- Why should they listen to the remake if the sounds that are being mimicked are going to sound very similar?
  - It seems to me that it's more of a personal project rather than collaborating and having other people listen
- How can users keep their project mates on top of it?
  - Is there a way to reward who finishes the fastest/ who has the most creative sound?